DECEMBER 10, 2014 | BY ADMIN

Spring Creek Ranch by artist Kathryn Mapes Turner of the View22 JH project by the Jackson Hole Land Trust.

You are invited to join us at the National Museum of Wildlife Art this Thursday, December 11, from 7 to 10 p.m., for a very special and festive Mix'd Media event led by View22 artists. Activities include watercolor cards with Lee Riddell; winter barn and cabin wrapping paper with Bill Sawczuk, snow globes with Jennifer Hoffman; a Land Trust matching game, a Land Trust map "Twister" with Kathryn Turner and letterpress greeting cards with Travis Walker.

View22: Painting Jackson Hole's Open Spaces Project, is an inspired collaboration between the Jackson Hole Land Trust and the artists. The project's goal is to highlight the importance of land conservation in Jackson Hole valley through the eyes of locally-based landscape painters.

Jessie Lestitian and Jon DeGroot will be the entertainment. Food will be provided by the Rising Sage Café to accompany wine and cheese.

GET ON THE BUS!

There will be free limo service from Limo Lounge to and from the Town Square between 7 and 10 p.m.
